Letter from the Chair

Update from LPCO Chair Jeff Orrok

Greetings, fellow Libertarians, and Happy Halloween (a few weeks early). A lot of people enjoy the holidays not only because they have a lot of fun (not to mention the fattening food), but also because of the familiar nature of tradition. We've got a lot of things happening again this October, but I'm not sure I'd like it so much if some

Vote 'No' on Proposition AA

No More Taxes!

Proposition AA is a massive tax increase that the voters should reject. When the Libertarian Party of Colorado endorsed Amendment 64 last year, many people objected that the party was also supporting a tax increase, since Amendment 64 allowed for a 15% excise tax on marijuana....

Department Spotlight: Communications Department

Libertarian Party of Colorado

LPCO Department Spotlight: Communications Department

This month we are highlighting the Libertarian Party of Colorado's Communications Department!

The Communications Department is responsible for communicating the policies, positions, and opinions of the organization to the public at large. This opportunity includes maintaining the content of the organizations web site & Blog, Colorado Liberty (our newsletter), maintaining and creating content for the Party's social media presence, and communicating with the organization's members. We are looking for people who are passionate and love making a difference....

News from the Regions Director:

Update on LPCO Affiliates!

Our newest Affiliate down in the Pikes Peak region, El Paso County (LPEPC), has successfully emerged from its trial by fire, having survived through a Recall election with its super-compressed time frame, and touting a candidate who received nearly 17% of the vote as a write-in candidate -- an amazing feat! They have also been chosen as one of five counties in Colorado to receive intensive training by the Libertarian National Campaigns Committee (a program that is explained in-depth elsewhere in this issue of "Colorado Liberty")....

2014 Libertarian Party of Colorado State Convention Announcement!

Reclaiming Liberty

We're just shy of six months away from the 2014 Libertarian Party of Colorado State Convention!

The 2014 Convention carries the theme "Reclaiming Liberty." It is a fitting theme, given the recently successful Recall effort in Senate Districts three and eleven. Make sure you keep the weekend of March 28th-30th available for this exciting occasion.)...
