Steve.

I have the outline for the FLP Platform. Good start! I'm enclosing a copy with my annotations.

Obviously, some of the concepts have to thought out and related to our underlying legal system and cultural mores, but since they were originally on their way to evolving into a libertarian society it should be possible for us to put things back on track. Let me know how I can help in further efforts.

Julian is doing quite well and I detect a ground swell of support around here for him in November.
