

ALABAMA LIBERTY

May/June 1993 * Volume 12 Number 3

Statement of Principles

We, the members of the Libertarian Party, challenge the cult of the omnipotent state and defend the rights of the individual.

We hold that all individuals have the right to exercise sole dominion over their own lives, and have the right to live in whatever manner they choose, so long as they do not forcibly interfere with the equal right of others to live in whatever manner they choose.

Governments throughout history have regularly operated on the opposite principle, that the State has the right to dispose of the lives of individuals and the fruits of their labor. Even within the United States, all political parties other than our own grant to government the right to regulate the lives of individuals and seize the fruits of their labor without their consent.

We on the contrary, deny the right of any government to do these things, and hold that where governments exist, they must not violate the rights of any individual: namely, (1) the right to life-accordingly we support the prohibition of the initiation of physical force against others; (2) the right to liberty of speech and action - accordingly we oppose all attempts by government to abridge the freedom of speech and press, as well as government censorship in any form; and (3) the right to property - accordingly we oppose all government interference with private property, such as confiscation, nationalization, and eminent domain, and support the prohibition of robbery, trespass, fraud, and misrepresentation.

Since governments, when instituted, must not violate individual rights, we oppose all interference by government in the area of voluntary and contractual relations among individuals. People should not be forced to sacrifice their lives and property for the benefit of others. They should be left free by government to deal with one another as free traders; and the resultant economic system, the only one compatible with the protection of individual rights, is the free market.

Convention 1993 Your Personal Invitation.

Time has arrived for the Alabama Libertarian Party's Convention for 1993. This year's Convention will return to the Statehouse Inn on Madison Avenue, Montgomery. The 1992 event was such a success we decided to return for a repeat performance. Complete details are listed on pages six and seven. The Committee in charge of the Convention is the very capable group of John Hix, Michael Probst and Charles Russell. If you were there last year you know it was super and this year promises to be even better. If you missed last year you need to make a special effort to attend this year. Montgomery is a better location for all you folks in the southern part of the state so don't miss this opportunity. From Mobile to Dothan we're looking for your presence folks. It is also important that everyone from the Birmingham, Huntsville, Gadsden and Florence areas and all points in between make a special trip this year, because we elect new officers, executive committee members and delegates to our national convention in Salt Lake City, Utah. It's interstate highway driving for most of the trip for a lot of you, so no excuses about the distance accepted from anyone. Our Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee friends and all other friends are certainly invited also. We'll treat you so many different ways, you're sure to like some of them !!

It is important that each of us realize the annual Alabama Libertarian State Convention is the most important event for our State Party and each of us need to be a part of it. Remember you don't have to be a member to attend and your friends and family members whether liberal, conservative or moderate will enjoy the activities. So bring along a friend who loves liberty or a friend who needs to start loving liberty. The meals are exquisite and well worth the price, without the addition of the quality aftermeal speakers. The Convention is a great date idea for all you young singles, and old married folks too or should I say old singles and young married folks, anyway show that love one an extra special time and make them feel like they are a celebrity for a day, it will be worth every penny and you will be helping a good cause.

The speakers list is great and the committee has set it up where we will have plenty of time to fellowship and meet new friends. This promises to be one of the best convention in years. I'll see you at the Statehouse Inn July 17. Okay !

*For room reservations if you want to come in on Friday or stay over Saturday night phone toll free 1-800-552-7099; their fax is 1-205-834-6126, tell them you're coming for the Libertarian Convention. If you come in Friday check out O'Leary's, "happy hour" is 4:30-6:30 you'll find a libertarian to talk with I'm sure.

Christianity and Liberty

Chad Johnson
4270 Dallas Rd 306
Selma, AL 36701

There are some who say, that there is a conflict between Christianity and Libertarian beliefs. To them I say they are wrong. God loves us all, He demonstrates that fact to us in two very significant ways. He sent his son to die for our sins, and he gave us freedom to live and think as we choose. Think about it. Does God stop murder, rape, or arson. If you made up your mind to do something, no matter how bad it was, is God going to strike you down before you do it? The answer is no he is not. Paul wrote in his second letter to the Corinthians "that the Lord is that Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty." He also wrote in his letter to the Galatians "Let every man prove his own work; and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another. For every man shall bear his own burden."

The Libertarian Principle states; that no individual, group, or government may initiate force against any other individual, group, or government. Is this not the substance of "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you"? Christ also made the statement "Forgive and ye shall be forgiven". "Judge not lest ye be judged." There are two very specific examples within the New Testament which clearly coincide with the Libertarian Personal and Economic Policies. The first being that Christ spared the prostitute from an extremely cruel law (John 8). The second being a parable which Jesus tells of a man which pays his workers in the manner he wishes. When some question his procedure, he replies "Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own". Well, it's nearly two thousand years later, and in the U.S.A. Prostitutes are thrown in jail, and no one is allowed to do what they will with their own. Wake up, America it's time for a change.

Who Needs Washington?

Your local community will spend 3 to 4 cents of each dollar earned compared to the gross personal income of the town residents. For that money the people get a police force, local roads, sewer lines, garbage pickup, parks and up north snow removal. Many fire departments and ambulance services are operated by volunteers who, God bless them, raise their own money.

The local schools will spend 5 to 6 cents of each dollar earned compared to the gross personal income of the school district residents. For that thirteen years of education is available to the children.

For less than 10 cents on a dollar the major needs supplied by government for most families are met.

The county will spend 2 to 3 cents on a dollar. For that you get court houses, tax assessors, recorder of deeds, and an office to issue marriage licenses to name a few.

The state government will spend 7 to 8 cents on a dollar. What state services would you miss first?

The federal government is spending 30 to 33 cents of each dollar earned compared to the gross personal income of the entire country. If the federal government shut down, what would you miss first?

THE INSIDE STORY OF HOW CONGRESS GETS AWAY WITH MURDER

On day to day matters, the dominant political party on Capitol Hill is not the Democrats or Republicans, it is the Incumbent Party. The Incumbent Party is a secret bipartisan coalition hidden behind a facade of partisan debate. Its platform is dedicated to Incumbents securing (and preserving) for themselves luxurious perks, exemption from most regulatory laws they enact applying to the rest of the country, salaries greater than the earnings of 99 percent of their constituents, and extremely generous pension plans. Incumbents have successfully used the power of their offices to stack our electoral system in their favor (launching any credible challenge to a House Incumbent now costs more than half a million dollars). To further deter against serious challengers, Representatives have secured large well-paid staffs whose primary duty is to ensure the re-election of their bosses. Consider how America's electoral process is rigged — leaving frustrated voters, in effect, with a Congress that is not legitimately elected:

LIBERTARIANISM

The Path To Peace, Prosperity and Freedom

By Jarret B. Wollstein

Would you like to live in a society of peace, prosperity and freedom? Would you like to earn a lot more money than your parents, be free to do whatever you want that doesn't harm others, and see the threats of violence and war largely disappear? Would you like to live in an age of artistic freedom and rapid scientific progress in which anything seems possible?

Such a world is not only possible -- it is a part of our history. For nearly sixty years, between the end of the Civil War in 1865 and the beginning of World War I in 1914, the United States was the freest, most prosperous society on earth. Living standards rose nearly 5% a year. The average American's income was six times higher at the end of the period than at the beginning. There was a little restriction upon personal, economic and artistic freedom. There was no income tax, no military draft, little government regulation of business, and no prohibition of drugs or alcohol. Voluntarily-organized and financed schools and charities made education available for all and help available for those who needed it. And, except for a brief Spanish-American War, the nation enjoyed the longest period of peace in its history. Nearly anything seemed possible. Illiterate immigrants who started with a push cart, could become millionaires through hard work.

Our Future Endangered

America of 1993 is far removed from the America of 1893, both in time and in spirit. Today's social landscape is one of deterioration, violence and mounting fear, rather than progress and boundless hope.

Living standards are falling and each year's college graduating class finds fewer and fewer job and career opportunities available as high taxes and regulations devastate the economy. Few young adults can now afford to buy their own homes, save for their children's education, or build security for their retirement.

Violence has become epidemic. Murder is now the leading cause of death among young black men. One in four college coeds report they were the victim of rape or attempted rape. And nearly 25% of all American families are now victimized by theft or vandalism every year.

The threat of superpower warfare has declined. But weapons of mass destruction -- chemical, biological and nuclear -- continue to spread to the world's most repressive regimes, many of which have been supported by U.S. military and economic aid. The "New World Order" threatens to mandate U.S. involvement in conflicts throughout the world -- inviting war and terrorist attacks on Americans.

THANK YOU & CONGRATULATIONS

Sabrina Vernon

We want to thank Sabrina Vernon for her good work as the Auburn University Libertarian Campus Organization President for this year. We also wish to congratulate her on graduating this Spring. She and others have started an organization that will mean a great deal to the future success of libertarian principles being accessible to the students at AU. We hope she finds a great job in the near future!! We wish continued success to incoming President Geoff Kurse and all AU Libertarians! Keep spreading the news.

LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS!

Our Libertarian Heritage

What has changed in America in the last 80 years? Why has this nation changed from one of the most prosperous and progressive on earth to one of increasing deterioration and violence? As Shakespeare observed, "The cause dear friend, lies not in the stars, but in ourselves." America is declining because Americans have largely abandoned their libertarian heritage.

Thomas Jefferson, George Washington and America's other founders understood the values required for a free, peaceful and prosperous society: individual liberty, economic freedom, and limited government.

Individual liberty is the basis of a free society. Liberty means the freedom to control your own life, to work and play as you choose, to be able to enjoy the fruits of your labor, to practice the religion of your choice, to speak freely, and to associate voluntarily with others.

Liberty can flourish only in an environment of tolerance, voluntary association and mutual respect for the lives and property of others. You can have liberty for yourself only if you grant it freely to everyone else. The alternative to freedom is coercion and slavery. You are coerced if force or the threat of force are used to prevent you from speaking, acting, or associating freely; if you are compelled to labor for the benefit of others or if the fruits of your labor are seized; or if force is used to control your life, your education, or your business.

The moral purpose of government is to protect us from domestic and foreign aggressors who use coercion. But the power of government can destroy as well as protect. When government crosses the line from protector of our liberty to master of our lives, it becomes just another criminal gang. At that point, as Jefferson said in the Declaration of Independence, it is the right and the duty of the people to alter or abolish government -- and to create new guardians for their peace and security.

The United States was born in a revolution against tyranny. America's founders created a constitutional republic in which government was limited to protecting individual rights. For nearly 200 years our Constitution and Bill of Rights protected freedom of speech, press, religion, and assembly; the right to keep and bear arms; the right to trial by jury and due process of law; protection of property from unreasonable search and seizure; and many other rights.

Gradually over the last eight decades, Americans have surrendered control over their lives for the illusion of government-guaranteed security and prosperity. The fundamental rights protected by our Constitution and Bill of Rights have now been abandoned. The government is on a rampage against our lives, liberty and property.

A Litany of Horrors

The power of government is now almost unlimited. Under RICO laws and "anti-drug" laws, the government can now seize all of a person's or business's assets without trial or indictment. Million-dollar fishing boats have been seized because a few marijuana seeds were found on board. Houses have been confiscated because of the alleged non-payment of a few hundred dollars in taxes. Entire businesses have been expropriated because the owners sold a few erotic films or violated incomprehensible "insider trading" laws. Cash is being seized from travellers whose only crime is that they were carrying large amounts of money and fit some policeman's "drug courier profile" (which could describe anyone). The U.S. Marshall's Service now has a 1.4 billion dollar inventory of seized assets. These are not occasional errors by overzealous government agents. Confiscation of homes, businesses, cars and cash without trial, indictment, or charge is now the official and legal policy of the United States government. In case after case, laws passed by the Congress and President -- and upheld by the Supreme Court, authorize these criminal acts. The right to trial by jury is rapidly disappearing. Less than 3% of criminal suspects now get a trial. Over 1 million Americans are now imprisoned (the highest percentage of any country in the world), and prisoners are expected to double in less than ten years. The Supreme Court has even ruled that coerced confessions (e.g. police beatings and torture) are legal. Most frightening of all, concentration camp-like "shock incarceration centers" are being built throughout America.

Uncontrolled taxes and stifling regulations are crippling America. Federal, state and local taxes now take an average of over 40% of the typical person's income. (Serfs in the Middle Ages paid only 25%!). Many small businesses now spend nearly half their time just filling out government paperwork. New EPA regulations that went into effect in September 1991 require gasoline stations to have at least $1 million in insurance. This is expected to put over half of the gasoline stations out of business by the end of 1991! And this is just the beginning. A host of new regulations will go into effect soon, dictating wages, hours, benefits, racial composition of the workplace, packaging and advertising. The tax and regulatory burdens have become so oppressive that in one industry after another plants and offices are closing or moving overseas, and lives are being destroyed. Even when government tries to help, it usually fails. Virtually every government service -- education, crime "control", the post office, public housing, welfare, and infrastructure (roads, bridges, sewers) -- is in a state of advanced deterioration. Without the discipline of free market competition and the necessity of making a profit, socialized government services consume ever more money while providing steadily deteriorating services.

The Libertarian Solution

To restore prosperity, freedom and peace to America, we must restore our libertarian heritage. As individuals we must return to the principle of tolerance and respect for the rights of others. Activities which are crimes for individuals -- theft, assault, kidnapping, intimidation and murder -- must be crimes for government agents as well. Socialized "public services" must be privatized and replaced by efficient, free-market businesses. The crushing burden of confiscatory taxes and suffocating regulations must be lifted from our economy. The use of foreign aid and our military to prop up repressive dictatorships must end.

As the revolutions sweeping Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union have demonstrated, the only power that government ultimately has is the power that we give to it. If the Russian and Ukrainian peoples can overthrow 74 years of tyranny with their bare hands and raw courage, we can change the course of this nation.

America can again be a land of liberty and unlimited opportunity. Through peaceful yet determined action, we can replace corrupt and tyrannical government and create a new dawn for liberty in America.

This is the mission of the American Libertarian movement: to create a society of liberty, prosperity and peace. This is the society that once existed in America, and which can exist again. If this is the type of world you want to live in, we invite you to join us and help create it.

The oyster is endowed with a ready-made house to live in. All he has to do is to open the doors of his house to take in his food and close them again to keep out his enemies. He has perfect social security. Yet he is the easiest fish in the world to catch, crush, and cook. He always ends up in the soup. So what does his vaunted security really amount to?

--Kenneth W. Sollitt

History is strewn with the wreckage of men and of nations lured to their destruction by the bait of something for nothing--lured by smoothly planned appeals to the criminal tendencies that lie dormant and unrecognized in almost everybody. And the lure succeeded only because its true nature was invariably hidden under a barrage of righteous propaganda.

--F.L.Maus

It is easy to be generous with other people's money.

--John Ray

Time and again, history demonstrates that when government attempts to mold society, problems often become worse rather than better. Only free individuals, acting in pursuit of their own self-interest, can maximize societal well-being. A civil rights strategy consistent with the principle of individual liberty cannot guarantee an end to poverty or despair, but it can--and must--apply itself to eradicating those misguided policies that perpetuate and exacerbate poverty and preclude individuals from controlling their own destinies. That, after all, is what civil rights are all about.

Even when the facts are available, most people seem to prefer the legend and refuse to believe the truth when it in any way dislodges the myth.

--John Mason Brown

The friendliness and charity of our countrymen can always be relied upon to relieve their fellow-citizens in misfortune. This has been repeatedly and quite lately demonstrated. Federal aid in such cases encourages the expectation of paternal care on the part of the Government and weakens the sturdiness of our national character, while it prevents the indulgence among our people of that kindly sentiment and conduct which strengthens the bonds of a common brotherhood.

--Grover Cleveland

The history of liberty is a history of the limitation of governmental power, not the increase of it.

--Woodrow Wilson

With some the word liberty may mean for each man to do as he pleases with himself, and the product of his labor; while with others the same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men, and the product of other men's labor.

Abraham Lincoln

Free men, defined as those who understand these distinctions, are the only ones who can rescue the indifferent and the docile from a growing serfdom. The burden is on them and them alone.
