Historical,

As part of our ongoing efforts to empower and amplify the voices of our members, we are excited to present you with the second survey in our series this week. This survey focuses on a matter of great importance – your interest in running for public office.

Your potential candidacy is a valuable asset to our party, and we want to understand your experiences, aspirations, and the resources you may need to run a successful campaign. Whether you are a seasoned candidate or considering running for the first time, your insights are crucial to shaping our party's strategy and support systems.

In this survey, we'll be exploring:

- Your interest in running for office
- Past experiences if you've run for office before
- The resources and support you would find most beneficial
- The specific positions you are considering for your candidacy

Thank you for considering this opportunity to shape the future through public service.
