In-person UTLP 2020 Convention Cancelled

Despite the date above, this sadly is not an April Fool's prank. The Utah Libertarian Party Executive Committee has made a decision to hold our 2020 nominating convention in an online format.

We very much regret not being able to hold a convention in person this year. However, the circumstances we face tell us this is the right thing to do for now. Our guests from around the country face travel restrictions that make their attendance very difficult if not impossible. Here at home, some of our members have medical conditions that compromise their resistance to disease, and we do not wish to endanger any of them. The continuing political uncertainty has wreaked havoc on planning, and while we still hold out a slim hope that by April 25th it will appear this was unnecessary, we feel it is better to have a clear plan going forward from today.

We will be announcing more specifics over the next week as a few details get ironed out, and we will be in touch with all members in good standing with the appropriate new registration links and contact information. It is our intent to move national candidate presentations off the program and onto the website, and have the only candidates making presentations during the convention being those seeking Utah offices. We will have the opportunity to nominate Utah candidates, and conduct other internal party business. We also still intend to conduct a presidential candidate and LNC Chair preference poll, for which details will be announced soon.

If you have purchased either lunch during the convention or a ticket to the Friday night reception, we will be offering a refund if you wish. Details will be emailed to those who made purchases.

Stay strong, stay safe, stay healthy. We are disappointed that we will not gather in person this year, but remain focused on nominating and promoting our candidates for office, and most importantly on promoting the ideals of liberty and the fundamental value of every unique individual, the real backbone of a vibrant, thriving nation.
