TUCCILLE FOR GOVERNOR GREAVES FOR U.S. SENATE

Over the weekend of March 29-31, the FLP held the first part of its Second Annual State Convention.

On Friday night the keynote address was delivered by Roger MacBride, the Virginia Presidential elector who cast his vote for Hospers and Nathan in 1972. In his address, he made a comparison between the members of the Libertarian Party and the small handful who at the beginning of the American Revolution were already determined to achieve a break with Great Britain. He went into some detail about how the radicals at the first Continental Congress pushed the rest into taking a militant stand against English tyranny. The point of this is that a small handful of determined and dedicated people can accomplish something. MacBride's speech was warmly received and was frequently punctuated with enthusiastic applause.

Chuck DeRosa was elected Convention Chairperson without opposition.

At the same session, the Convention went through the procedures of Credentials, Agenda and Rules. There was some debate over whether the times in the Agenda should be made an Order of the Day. It was decided to make the meet and eat times fixed.

The Convention also adopted the By-Laws amendment increasing the quorum requirements and heard the Treasurer's Report.

On Saturday morning, the Convention started going through all the By-Laws amendments that had been proposed, either by the State Committee of submitted from the floor. The following were adopted:

To replace "human" with "individual" in the Statement of Principles and Objectives;

To delete the 'Student' membership category. At the same time, the dues structure increased to $10 for Regular, $20 for Sustaining, $200 for Lifetime and $500 for Lifetime Sustaining. Also the power to the State Committee to set dues was revoked.

The "loyalty oath" requirement for the membership application was dropped; and now it is only necessary to subscribe to the Statement of Principles and Objectives.

The number of Committeepersons-at-Large was increased from three to five. And the Chairperson was authorized to solicit opinions and votes by phone from members of the State Committee who may be absent from a Committee meeting if a majority present approve.

A technical amendment setting the same requirements for Committeeperson-at-Large as for officers.

A technical amendment that had the effect of incorporating the corporate By-Laws into the regular By-Laws.

The "Spokesperson" amendment was defeated.

The State Committee's proposed amendment setting up a County structure was defeated.

The Convention had still not finished with By-Laws when it recessed on Saturday night.

On Sunday morning, a County Structure that had been submitted from the floor was adopted - with an amendment providing for County representation on the State Committee. At first the Convention voted for proportional representation based on membership - but later voted to make only the County Chairperson ex officio a member of the State Committee. There is still a By-Laws amendment to be considered which would provide for a proportional representation with a fairly high requirement for each delegate.

Two By-Law amendments that would have stripped the State Committee of any power to set policy failed for lack of two-thirds.

After lunch a Special Order was approved to put the rest of the business of By-Laws and Resolution after the business of endorsements. The Convention then went on to electing the officers and Committeepersons-at-Large.

Ray Strong was elected Chairperson by a vote of 33 to 20 over Bill Lawry.

Mike Nichols (29) and Bill Lawry (28) won out over Fran Youngstein (25) and Howard Katz (25) for the positions of Vice-Chairperson.

Lee Schubert was elected Secretary with a vote of 43. He was unopposed.

Dolores Grande also ran without opposition and was elected by a vote of 50.

The election of the Committeepersons-at-Large maintained the tradition of being a problem. Only this year the question was over what constitutes a majority. 55 delegates voted for a least one candidate - but there was some bullet voting. The results of the first ballot were:

Andrea Millen - 34
Fran Youngstein - 28
Charles Blood - 26
Howard Katz - 22
Ken Kalcheim - 20
Ellen Davis - 18

Martin Nixon - 17
Vivian Wadlin - 15
John Caulfield - 14
Carolyn Keelen - 9
Louis Sicilia - 7
Maria Martins - 4

The Chair originally ruled that 28 was needed to win (half of 55). But an appeal was made that this in effect made an allowance for abstentions. The Convention voted that only votes cast for candidates would be considered (this made 22 the number needed to win).

Millen, Youngstein, Blood and Katz were declared elected; and there was a run-off for the remaining vacancy. Wadlin withdrew and Martins was dropped as the person with the lowest vote. The results of the second ballot were:

Nixon - 20
Davis - 14
Kalcheim - 13
Caulfield - 6
Keelen and Sicilia - 0

On the third ballot, Caulfield, Keelen, Sicilia were dropped; and Kalcheim withdrew. Ellen Davis was elected by a vote of 33 to 17 over Nixon.

After Dinner, the Convention voted to recess until April 28th after the business of endorsements was concluded. The recess, though, was to be considered an adjournment for the purpose only of installing the new officers and At-Large.

Murray Rothbard made the nominating speech for Percy Greaves. After the endorsements, Tuccille made a strong and well received acceptance speech. Mr. Greaves made his acceptance speech over the phone.

THE CANDIDATES

The Free Libertarian Party endorsed Jerome Tuccille as its candidate for Governor of New York State.

Mr. Tuccille says he will work to turn the state into a Free Zone. He supports the libertarian view that each individual is the absolute owner of their life, to use and dispose of it as they see fit and that all human social actions should be voluntary.

Tuccille challenges the "right" of government to direct any individual's moral choices. He is opposed to "victimless crime" legislation and would stop its enforcement in New York. Smoking marijuana, selling pornography, gambling, prostitution should not be prosecuted as crimes. Mr. Tuccille says that government can never be more capable of satisfying a person's financial needs than the person himself. He opposes all forms of taxation. Mr. Tuccille thinks people should be free to spend their money as they wish. He believes the government should have no power to force its residents to finance services they may not need or want. He supports the free enterprise system of economics. Tuccille thinks profit-making is the one sign of a healthy economy and should be encouraged - not restricted.

Mr. Tuccille would like to lower the voting age to allow young individuals the opportunity to hasten the passage of "pro-individual" legislation. He thinks all individuals have the same rights regardless of age; and government must recognize this.

In accepting the endorsement, Mr. Tuccille said,

"This is the year for alternatives. Libertarianism is the only real alternative to the ever-expanding control of government over the life of the individual. It is consistent political philosophy combining pro-individual elements of both the Liberal and Conservative positions: civil liberties and a laissez-faire economy."

Jerome Tuccille is the author of several books, including Radical Libertarianism. It Usually Begins With Ayn Rand and Here Comes Immortality. He has written articles and book reviews for The Nation, The New York Times, Outlook and numerous other publications. Tuccille teaches at the New School for Social Research in New York City and lectures at various universities throughout the country. Mr. Tuccille is 36 years old and lives with his wife and two children in White Plains.

Percy L. Greaves, Jr. received the FLP endorsement for U.S. Senate.

A disciple of Ludwig von Mises, Mr. Greaves is one of the few real free market economists in the United States today. He commands a wealth of knowledge, experience and understanding of business, politics, history and economics. Mr. Greaves believes, "...the only way for free men to eliminate unemployment is to permit the free functioning of wages in an open market."

Mr. Greaves is one of the country's leading experts on money and monetary problems of inflation and credit expansion, as well as causes and cures of recessions and depressions.

Mr. Greaves, who is 67, was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. He received his B.S. in Business, magna cum laude, at Syracuse University; and was a graduate student in economics at Columbia University.

Mr. Greaves is the author of several books, and has written and contributed to many articles, among which are: Understanding the Dollar Crisis, Perpetual War for Perpetual Peace, On Freedom and Free Enterprise, and Essays on Liberty, III, IV & XII.

The American Economic Association and the American Historical Association are two of the many organizations with whom he is affiliated. Mr. Greaves lives in Dobbs Ferry.

He believes that the most important issue in the upcoming campaign is the country's economic problems.

He promises to bring his message of the free market and individualism to every voter in the State of New York.

Louis J. Sicilia received the endorsement for Lieutenant-Governor.

He is 39 years old, was born and raised on Manhattan's upper West Side. In 1973 he was the FLP candidate for Borough President of Manhattan. He organized the Libertarian Anti-Censorship Committee and has been active in anti-censorship activities. He is one of the founders and currently Treasurer of New Yorkers for Abortion Law Repeal, an organization which is against any laws that deal with abortion.

As candidate for Attorney General, the FLP has endorsed Leland W. Schubert.

Mr. Schubert thinks, in the interest of economy and protection of privacy, that the power of the Attorney General should be curtailed. "The office is inefficient. It wastes time and money interfering with free enterprise," he said.

Mr. Schubert is a private investor and lives in the Murray Hill section of New York City.

For New York State Comptroller, the FLP has endorsed Bob Flanzer.

Dr. Flanzer became active in politics during the Mayoral campaign last year. He seeks a free market economy with more protection for individual rights. He became interested in the Free Market approach to solving political problems while studying Ayn Rand's philosophy of Objectivism at the Nathaniel Branden Institute in New York.

Dr. Flanzer, 39 years old, is a practising dentist in Brooklyn's Manhattan Beach area, and a former captain in the Strategic Air Command. He has also attended Brooklyn Law School.

For the 17th C.D., the FLP has endorsed Kenneth Kalcheim for the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mr. Kalcheim is an open tax rebel. He is the editor and publisher of Rip-Off Resistance and Co-Chairman of the National Tax Strike Coalition.

He will use the issue of taxation in his campaign, and will campaign as a tax rebel, advocating tax rebellion. He will also be seeking the Republican and Conservative endorsements.

Mr. Kalcheim has long been active in politics. He is a former member of YAF. While in California, he was a member of the Republican State Central Committee and a Vice-President of the Los Angeles County Republican Assembly. While in the United Kingdom he joined the Conservative Party of Great Britain.

Mr. Kalcheim will also point out that his opponent is one of the biggest spenders in Congress. Rep. Murphy also has the lowest rating in the Royce Report and was a sponsor of the 1968 Gun Control Act.

As candidate from the 25th C.D., the FLP endorsed Sanford Cohen.

Mr. Cohen, a Poughkeepsie resident, has a bachelor's degree in economics and most of his graduate work has been in education. He is owner and director of the Reading Lab, a private facility specializing in reading instruction. He is also on the staff at Beacon High School where he teaches special education and general math.

Sandy began his campaign 22 months in advance in order to build an effective, independent political organization. In his acceptance speech, he said, "It is time to return to the spirit of '76. It is time to give America back to all the people. It is time to restore property rights, individual liberties and the free enterprise system."

For the New York State Assembly from the 1st A.D., the FLP has endorsed Virginia Shields Walker, a resident of Shirley, formerly of Shelter Island.

Mrs. Walker is founder and chairperson of the Committee for the Repeal of Condemnation Laws, which challenges the doctrine of eminent domain - government power to take private property for a public purpose. She is deeply concerned with the erosion of private property rights and has publicly opposed legislation that would give government increased power over land use.

Virginia has her master's degree in English from St. John's University, New York, and has completed all course work towards a doctorate in English at New York University. Mrs. Walker was an English instructor for five years, teaching at Bridgewater State College, Mass., and Norwalk Community College, Conn., Recently she worked as a newspaper reporter in Suffolk County.

For the 21st A.D., the FLP has endorsed Mary-Jo Wanzer. She has been active in the FLP since its formation in 1972 and is presently organizing the Nassau Libertarian Party Organization.

Ms. Wanzer has her bachelor's degree from Adelphi University in political science and her master's degree from SUNY at Albany in American government and law. While at Adelphi, she was on the Dean's list and was active in the Young Republican Club. Disenchantment with the philosophical void of the major parties propelled her into the FLP. Mary-Jo has worked as a social studies teacher, a caseworker and an IRS officer. The latter position confirmed her understanding of the grave danger of unbridled power vested in governmentally created agencies. She is now training in the field of legal assistance and hopes to go to law school to further her study of administrative and constitutional law.

NOTICE

IT AIN'T OVER YET, FOLKS

The Second Annual State Convention of the FLP has recessed until Sunday, April 28th at 2PM at the Williams Club; 24 East 39th Street, New York, N.Y.

At this session will be the finishing up of the By-Laws amendments and the business of resolutions.

Since this is merely a continuation of the Annual Convention, the list of delegates will be the same.

For the 71st A.D., the FLP has endorsed Alan LePage.

He is 22 years old and was born in Barre Vermont. His grandfather, an atheist Republican, and Henry David Thoreau were the earliest influences on his thinking. Later he came across Ayn Rand and went off to Columbia University to do battle with the forces of academic evil.

He is an anarchist who believes in limited government (at least until, with his assistance and approbation, it "withers away"). He is a member of Tax Rebels of America and does not pay taxes. He worked in the FLP Mayoral campaign last fall and joined the LP last year.

For the 99th A.D., the FLP has endorsed Guy Riggs.

He is 50 years old, and was born and raised in the Southwest. He joined the Navy in 1942 and participated in three WW II battles. Mr. Riggs was appointed to the U.S. Naval Academy in 1944 and after graduating he had four years duty as a commissioned officer.

Mr. Riggs joined IBM in 1952. During his 22 years with IBM, he has lived in New York State. He has been residing in Poughkeepsie for the past seven years.

Guy began his political activities in 1964, when he campaigned for Barry Goldwater. He served for two years as a Republican Committeeman. In 1972 he ran as an independent candidate for Assembly in the 99th A.D.

In his acceptance speech, he stated, "I want to offer an alternative to freedom-minded voters who are tired of living by permission, not by right. All the other political parties want the state to be a 'Big Daddy' telling its citizens how to live on whatever money they have left after taxes."

FROM THE CHAIR

We are in the process of surviving our second annual Convention. As in the first one, we have had heated and prolonged debate, parliamentary maneuvering, nitpicking, and flaring tempers. In this article, I would like to counter the suggestion that we have been wasting time.

Different organizations have different styles. Some meet for the sole purpose of assenting to the dictates of their leader. We are an organization of individuals who take intense pride in their individuality, as well as individualism. We meet in convention for the purpose, among others, of expressing and working through the inevitable frictions and reestablishing communications. At this, I think we are extremely successful.

Our success is measured in the excitement generated during our endorsements. I heard someone characterize it as "election fever"; and I think the phrase is appropriate. Most of us found out, for the first time Sunday, that we were going to have a slate of state-wide candidates, but more important, that we were going after the fifty thousand votes. Jerry Tuccille's decision to take the FLP as far as it can go toward major party status led cascades of building enthusiasm as we heard the aims of our local candidates and began to feel like a state-wide party.

I remember joining our first petition drive after getting a letter from Linda Klasman which said, in effect. "THEY are going to take it away from us unless we fight." Now, I'm trying to get you involved the same way because this may be your last chance. With so-called public financing laws, THEY can take away our ability to wage legal political campaigns as a minority party. THEY can make private campaign financing illegal. But, this year, WE can make ourselves a major party and fight back.

Yours in liberty, Ray Strong

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The next meeting of the State Committee will be on Saturday, April 13th at 2PM at the FLP office.

Anyone interested in participating should send a postcard to LP National listing the names of the three individuals that the respondent would most like to see as the next LP Presidential candidate. Choices should be limited to native-born Americans who will be 35 years old as of January 20th, 1977 (i.e. 32 years old now), and who would be reasonably likely to accept our nomination. # WHAT HAPPENED

SUFFOLK

SUFFOLK LIBERTARIAN CLUB

We are chartered - for the moment. March meeting: Howard Katz and Charles Blood addressed the group on the subject of the Constitutionalist Coalition. Very good discussion period followed. Publicity: Karl Grossman, political editor with the Long Island Press has expressed interest in doing a column on the Free Libertarian Party activities in Suffolk County (and Nassau).

COMMITTEE FOR REPEAL OF CONDEMNATION LAWS

This has been our month for publicity! March 17, Sunday, the Long Island Press carried an illustrated feature on the work of the Committee, with comments from Nora Seif and me. Fantastic article, most sympathetic in tone.

Tuesday, March 26, the Farmlands "Acquisition" for Preservation Program was presented to the Suffolk County Legislature - sort of a "voluntary" condemnation program with the taxpayers footing a bill of $45 million to buy development rights to 9,000 acres of farmland for preservation. I delivered a speech for the Committee - and Channel 67 carried much of my address on television that evening! One problem, I didn't get to see myself!

Wednesday, March 27, the New England River Basins Commission and the Citizens Advisory Committee presented their plan (study alone cost $3.5 million!) to "save" Long Island Sound. Both Nora and I spoke against it and some of my comments got into a Long Island Press article on the subject. (Both farmlands program and sound program carry property rights destruction to the limit; if these plans are implemented, you can say goodbye to your property rights. Add the National Land Use Act, and serfdom is here.)

CALIFORNIA

The California LP held their 1974 State Convention on February 15-18 at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Ed Clark was reelected Chairman. Dr. John Hospers was endorsed as their gubernatorial candidate. William C. White was chosen as their candidate for U.S. Senate.

COHEN SPEAKS

Sandy Cohen, FLP Congressional candidate from the 25th C.D., addressed the Women's Political Caucus on Wednesday, March 20th at 7:30 PM. The meeting was held at Friends Church in Poughkeepsie. His speech was entitled Libertarianism - the alternative.

Editor-colleague, fellow libertarian (definition #1) and friend,

Oft has it been that my name has been taken in vain in this your illustrious journal, yet only once have I appeared in reply, and that half a Terran revolution too late. Perchance it might not be inappropriate to submit to your tender, capable hands one missive of farewell to my compatriots (and rivals, enemies, detractors and snipers) at this point.

My understanding has it that you will delay the publication of the next issue until after the State Convention. Hence my nefarious plans and vile conspiring (not to mention tawdry back-room dealings) will not be exposed to the purifying light of day and I may safely entrust the following without fear of being undone. By the time your poor unfortunate reading public has acquired the published copy of this epistle, all will be lost! (Weeping and wailing is permitted; gnashing of teeth ONLY if those sitting next to you do not object. However, sackcloth and ashes are not permitted on most floors, rugs, carpets, etc.)

For those who have not yet heard, I have left all active duty with the FLP as of April Fool's Day; the National Libertarian Party radical caucus has yet to consummate its relationship with the Nolanites in Dallas, but immediately after that, all activity by me, and those in fundamental agreement with me, in any political party will cease. A New Libertarian Alliance is abornin' and all of you are welcome to forsake the Machinery of the State, the game in which the enemy makes the rules and changes them at will, and work outside the electoral process in a consistent manner with your goal of struggling for a new liberty.

Only one paragraph of propaganda, you exclaim as reading the following? Yea, verily, and I say unto you as well, let me devote the rest of Marty's valuable (though ragged-right) space to some fond personal notes of farewell. To Andrea, may you come to NLA meetings to quibble about the meeting order in order to drive everyone from Counter-economic activity into vote-chasing, and may my resulting exasperation yield your soul final, lasting peace. To Gary, may you triumph in your ambition to centralize all power in the Libertarian Party, here and Nationally, because, following the nature of Party qua Party, why, you were right all the time - as we both knew all along. To Ken, may you soon be thwarted in your congressional campaign and return repentant to the fold, to be welcomed as any prodigal. To Howie, my gratitude for your taking my ideological salvation as seriously as I took yours, and my sorrow at my realization that you will never become "one of us." To Fran, a laying down of arms, and a return of a long-ago kiss. To Ray, a peaceful, passive Party, putty in his hands, which will never come to pass as long as there are libertarians (definition #2) still in the Free Libertarian Party. To Marty, a newsletter that is more an extremist rag and less a hate sheet. To Murray, a Party he can be proud of, and as deserving of his support as reality will allow. And to Mona, this letter, giving my support and personal feelings which she asked for at the last State Convention, now written because the shooting has stopped.

Yours purely for anarchy, Samuel Edward Konkin III

THE UNTOLD HISTORY

How the British East India Company's "pre-Fabian" Philosophical Radicals set up Capitalism and its antithesis Communism

by William Robert Plumme 320 pages $4.**

An Activist/scholar, the author of this book has the unique ability to analyze the past with reference to the present and to project the future. Thus in 1945 he was chiefly responsible for blocking a drive to give a bureau of government absolute power over the allocation of labor and materials in the post war United States. In 1965 he gave a signal speech which killed the drive for a registration of private owned arms by the Federal Government.

In THE UNTOLD HISTORY the author provides the reader with a comprehensive picture of what has been and is taking place—forming a matrix to which he can add out of his own studies and experiences.

It is a must both for analysts studying the course of events and for activists who must contend with the master-plans of the forces they are trying to combat.
