Behind the Numbers

Michael Badnarik received about 400K votes (0.32%), compared to 0.36% for Browne in 2000. Badnarik got 46K votes in California, meaning he was not voted for by >=44K registered Libertarians, and by >=150K people who voted for the LP Senate candidate. Nader got about 100K more votes than Badnarik, and Green candidate David Cobb got 100K votes of his own. Badnarik and Cobb have filed a joint lawsuit to force a recount in Ohio, citing alleged irregularities.

California ballot measures. Prop 62 lost. ensuring LP access to the general election ballot. Employer healthcare mandates and the ER phone tax lost, but voters approved bonds and millionaire taxes for other healthcare programs. Voters also disagreed with the LPC on Three Strikes and stem cell funding.

County ballot measures. The county transit tax passed comfortably, but various city revenue measures were balanced on the edge of the 2/3 approval requirement.

Highly-touted Senate candidate Jim Gray got the same 1.7% that our 2000 candidate got, and was outpolled by an unimpressive Peace & Freedom candidate. (No Green ran.)

Brian Holtz sent mass email to 23,000 of his voters, but other local LP candidates like Allen Rice had better totals, especially as compared to the number of registered LPers in their districts. By this measure, Chris Maden's result was almost unequaled statewide. Chris had no explanation, but didn't discount his district's high non-Demopublican registration (31% vs. 23% regionally).

Sequoia Healthcare candidates Gibson and Sigler had the effect of their Palo Alto Daily News endorsement blunted by a last-minute glossy mailing by the incumbent slate. Our own board member Jack Hickey polled an impressive 50,000 votes in his 2-way race with an incumbent education board member.

How Did Freedom Fare?

Cato Institute Analysis by Patrick Basham

Many voters got out on the illiberal side of the bed on Election Day. Exhibit A is the overwhelming approval of respective state bans on same-sex marriage. Ballots in 11 states asked voters to render their verdict on this issue. The response was unanimous. All of the proposed bans, many in the South but also the Midwest and even "progressive" Oregon, passed by overwhelming margins.

Alaskans were given the opportunity to decriminalize marijuana, thereby emphasizing rationality over persecution. Nevertheless, Alaska's voters rejected by a 14-point margin a measure that would have regulated the cultivation, use and sale of marijuana for persons 21 and older. Meanwhile, Oregon voters rejected the opportunity to expand the state's medical marijuana program. By contrast, some positive news came out of Montana where a proposal for medical marijuana for the critically ill passed by an almost two-to-one margin.

The freedom to gamble remained a hot ballot topic, as six states put a total of 13 measures before the voters. Oklahomans approved a state lottery but Nebraskans and Californians overwhelmingly rejected casinos and tribal casinos, respectively. In Michigan, popular approval will now be required before new forms of gambling facilities can be established. Majorities in Florida and Nevada approved increases in the job-destroying minimum wage.

The average voter remains deeply ambivalent about the appropriate degree of government involvement in our social and economic lives, presenting an opportunity for proponents of limited government to extend their efforts to publicize the benefits of freedom in both the economic and social spheres.

LPSM (113 members, 1730 registered) is the county's only organized opposition to tax hikes. Since 1990 we've helped stop about $500M in new taxes LP-CA (90K registered) has ~70 office-holders, and contests far more seats than the Greens: 24-11 US House, 12-1 CA Senate, 35-4 CA Assembly LP-USA (22K, 235K): most candidates (1800), unique voters (3.3M), presidential ballot access (48 states to 36), elected officials (>300) of all 3rd parties

From the Editor LP's Best Issue: Entitlements

One massive problem will dominate American politics over the next decade and beyond, and it's not influenza fatalities (>20K/yr) or terrorism (<3K/yr) or war (~1K/yr) or the Patriot Act (~0/yr). It's entitlements.

Consider: 1) It's by far the biggest problem — $50 trillion, vs. e.g. $0.5 trillion for Iraq. 2) The Demopublicans have only been making the problem worse. 3) Libertarians already have the right answer: privatization. 4) Intergenerational inequity implies long-term rewards for the party that awakens and champions the young. 5) The major parties are too addicted to the senior vote to co-opt us on this issue. 6) The Greens are too socialist to co-opt us on this issue.

Entitlement reform is clearly what the LP should declare as our trump issue. The Greens can't follow suit, the major parties have bet too much on their losing hands, our policy ace is high, and the generational deck is totally stacked in our favor. To fold this winning hand would be sheer folly.
