Thomas Szasz to Highlight '95 State Convention

by Richard G. Combs

Dr. Thomas S. Szasz, maverick psychiatrist and critic of the "mental illness" model of aberrant behavior, will be the featured guest at the 1995 state convention of the Libertarian Party of Colorado. Szasz has won numerous honors from pro-liberty groups for his lifelong dedication to individual liberty and personal responsibility.

The convention runs from March 31 to April 2 in the Coach House Resort of Loveland, Highway 34 and I-25. Szasz will deliver the introductory talk on Friday evening, March 31, following conference registration and a reception. He will also speak on Saturday and Sunday.

Szasz is the author of over twenty books, including The Myth of Mental Illness: Foundations of a Theory of Personal Responsibility and Law, Liberty, and Psychiatry, as well as hundreds of articles and essays. Born in Budapest in 1920, he received his M.D. degree at the University of Cincinnati and his psychiatric training at the University of Chicago.

Rally Commemorates Ratification of Bill of Rights

by Larry Hoffenberg

A cold and gray December 11th morning yielded to warmth and sunny skies for the Denver Libertarian Party's 2nd Annual Citizens' Rally to Restore the Bill of Rights. The rally, held on the steps of the State Capitol, was the DLP's third such event held this year, and drew a small but enthusiastic crowd of about 100. Denver LP Chairman and rally organizer David Segal attributed the disappointing turnout to a lack of publicity, the holiday season, and the usual Sunday afternoon competition from the Denver Broncos.

A dozen speakers provided the crowd with first-hand insight into governments' continual violation and abrogation of all but the Third Amendment of the Bill of Rights. Rebecca John, founder of Safety for Women and Responsible Motherhood, Inc. (SWARM) urged citizens to not rely on the government to protect their persons and property. Concerned citizens, especially women, should apply for concealed weapons permits

From the Chair:

Because of the unprecedented changes in the political landscape, our opportunities have never been greater. Our successes should follow, if we choose to act now. The Democrats have been largely discredited; the Republicans have just two years to prove they got the message. The word "libertarian" has been mentioned in the national press numerous times over the past two months. People are beginning to recognize our philosophy, if not our party.

There are several things we can and must do this year if we are to succeed:

1. We must obtain presidential ballot access this year, so we can concentrate on campaigning in 1996. That means we need to collect 5,000 valid signatures. Four years ago, the national LP had to step in and pay $5,000 to finish our petition drive because we couldn't do it. That's $5,000 that could have been spent on advertising. I hope you won't let that happen again. Ed Clark and David Bergland, former LP presidential candidates, will stand in for our nominees (to be selected in 1996) for petitioning purposes. Come to the convention and find out the details.
2. We need to double our membership. The only way we will see lots of Libertarian candidates on the ballot is if we double our membership. The only way we will be a player in the political process is if we double our membership. The national party has started Project TimesTwo. Its goal is to double our membership by July 4th, 1996, the start of the national convention. They will be sending us a "project in a box" every couple of months and we will distribute them to local groups as soon as we get them. It is your responsibility to take these materials and act on them. That means getting out and meeting the public, joining other groups with similar interests, and letting others know who you are and what you believe in. Find out about local fairs and events in your area. Do it now!!

Get a booth and distribute literature. Start going to neighborhood meetings and talking about libertarian solutions. If you meet enough people, some of them will join. If you don't meet anyone, there will be no new members.

3. We're working with the Green Party, Prohibition Party, Tax-payers Party, and the Labor Party Advocates on ballot access reform. We want to get a bill introduced in the legislature reducing signature requirements. If this happens, we'll need your help to prove there is support for this kind of reform. That means you must call your legislators and ask for their support. You must get 5 of your friends to do the same. If you don't know who your state senator and representative are, call your county clerk and ask. There may be a bill, supported by the Secretary of State, that would screw us royally, perhaps requiring as many as 20,000 signatures to get our presidential candidate on the ballot. We will keep you posted.
4. I'd like to change the terms of office for the board of directors. We can increase the stability, productivity, and institutional memory of the board by changing the terms from one year to two and having 4 members elected one year and 5 the next.

There's a lot to get done this year. Please pitch in, join your local group, and make it happen. Thanks,

David Aitken

Board Report

by David Bryant

Chairman David Aitken convened a regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Libertarian Party of Colorado at 10:15 a.m. on Saturday, December 10, at party headquarters in Denver. Treasurer Cooper Jager and Affiliates Director Bert Wiener were absent. Dale Doelling and Dann Hayes attended via telephone. All the other board members were there in person.

After attending to routine business, the discussion turned to the results of November's elections and to the future direction of our party. Generally, we feel that the public mood is swinging our way. People are tired of politics as usual. They're sick of excessive taxation and overbearing regulation. They want real change! The challenge is to harness this frustration to further our agenda. Three ideas were discussed. Your board members feel that these might invigorate the party.

- The national LP has announced a new program called "Project Times|Two." They're aiming to double party membership by the next national convention in July, 1996. David Aitken suggested that we should arrange an all-day meeting of the various local affiliates at which we could lay plans for increasing our membership. The affiliates' meeting would also provide an opportunity to identify candidates who might run for local offices in 1995, and to lay the groundwork for the state convention next April. If you would like to attend such a meeting, call a board member!
- The party needs more money. Our new Fundraising Director, Bette Rose Smith, is working on a direct mail campaign to re-vitalize our monthly pledge program. We'll put our small cadre of volunteers to work on this. If one of them calls you, please be generous!

Other convention highlights include appearances by contenders for the LP's 1996 Presidential and Vice Presidential nominations and "An Evening with L. Neil Smith." Smith, the award-winning Ft. Collins science fiction author and head of the Libertarian 2nd Amendment Caucus, provided one of the highlights of last year's convention with his intransigent and entertaining presentation, "Hillary Behind Bars."

Professional conference organizer Mary Margaret Glennie is once again hosting this year's get-together, and in the tradition of her conventions, the schedule still has some open slots for surprise appearances to be announced later.

Full conference registration is only $39 for those signing up early, but climbs to $49 on March 1 and $67 at the door. Business meetings are, of course, free.

Full registrants are encouraged to bring two non-libertarian guests, free of charge, to the Friday evening reception and introductory talk by Dr. Szasz.

See the full-page ad and registration form on page 5 for more information, or call Mary Margaret Glennie at (303) 484-8184.

- David Aitken and Doug Anderson have been working with other minor political parties (Taxpayers, Greens, and Prohibitionists) to craft a revised ballot access law for Colorado. They think State Senator Paul Weissmann (D, Louisville) may be willing to carry a bill during the next session of the legislature. Simplified ballot access could be a real boon for the Libertarian Party. You can help by contacting your own representative and senator early in the session. Let them know that you care about restrictive ballot access laws!

The next board meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, January 14, at the state party headquarters. As always, visitors are welcome. Bring your ideas to our attention!

There is no Affiliate News column this month because of the holidays. It will return next month with recaps of the past year.

Denver LP Schedules Upcoming Speakers

New Chair David Segal's term began with a bang, as close to forty people came to the December meeting of the Denver Libertarians to hear the Independence Institute's director, Tom Tancredo, discuss California's Proposition 187. Segal has wasted no time in planning future meetings, with speakers already set through April.

In January, Colorado Daily columnist Paul Danish will discuss the War on Drugs. The February speaker will be Peggy Loonan, who is on the Colorado Board of the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL). In March, the group will host two of Liberty's best friends in the legislature, Penn Pfiffner and Charles Duke. The April meeting, leading into the group's next Right to Bear Arms Rally, will feature attorney and 2nd Amendment authority David Kopel.

and be ready to defend themselves. Based in Lakewood, CO, SWARM is America's first women's pro-firearms group. Over 1,400 women from across the country have joined SWARM since its founding this past summer.

Boulderite Paul Danish, one of the few "good guy" Democrats, warned about the dangers of the federal government's war on drugs: "The entire Bill of Rights has been put in jeopardy in the name of the war on drugs. It is the biggest single threat to our freedom this century."

A highlight of the rally was firearms dealer Bob Glass recounting his recent clash with Colorado Senator Ben Nighthorse Campbell on a recent plane flight to Washington, D.C. According to Glass, when he confronted Campbell over his vote in favor of the Crime Bill, Campbell physically challenged him and threatened to have him thrown off the plane.

All in all, it was a fine rally, lacking only in the turnout. It was certainly more entertaining than the Broncos-Raiders game against which it competed.

Let's Raise the Ante

by Jeff Wright

Liberty means responsibility. That is why most men dread it.

— George Bernard Shaw

The elections are over and we are now into the fray. The conservative pundits and talk show hosts are in full roar about ending government as we know it. Well, this writer and many others remain to be convinced.

G. B. Shaw was a socialist and knew of which he spoke. The socialists have always depended on our reluctance to take responsibility. All citizens have to ask themselves the question: "Has the government truly derived its just powers from the consent of the governed?" The survival of our Republic awaits the answer to that question by every voting and, perhaps more pointedly, non-voting American.

It must be remembered that our government, as it currently functions, was abetted in its creation by the Republicrats (Republicans/Democrats). While the House of Representatives may have been controlled by the Democrats for the last 40 years, the Senate and Presidency have seen significant atretches of Republican control. In addition, and often forgotten, the shift of control away from the people and to the government has been abetted by the Supreme and inferior Federal Courts. Together, the three branches, directed by shifting Republicrat majorities elected by the citizens, have been responsible for the shape this country is in.

At this point, the government they have fabricated nearly defies description and certainly understanding.

At this point, the government they have fabricated nearly defies description and certainly understanding. The government attempts to enforce thousands of pages of tax code no one in the country can understand. It uses the tax code to pay for attempts to regulate everything at the most minute level, from the use of your personal property to personal behavior to reproductive activities. The result of all this is to institute a government that consumes and truncates our ability to progress as a society. In addition, it has made virtually every citizen in this country an unwitting lawbreaker in some form.

Where will this end? Does this government have any relation to the system of government initially set up in this country? Abusolutely not! For this reason, a document has been composed, issuing a Grievance, Notice and Demand to the Federal government to hold itself to a long-ignored standard. Titled "The Constitutional Petition," the document was issued December 15, 1994. That is the same date on which the Bill of Rights became effective in 1791.

The Petition states in no uncertain terms how the social contract has been violated. It makes clear that, under our form of government, the only standard permissible for the creation, passage, and execution of legislation is that stated in the U.S. Constitution. It demands that the three branches of the federal government resolve to stop meddling with the social contract.

The Petition provides a process for review of all legislation, offices, and agencies for constitutional authorization. If they do not meet the test, it directs their abolishment. The reviews must apply the original construction standard, using the Federalist Papers, Anti-Federalist Papers, minutes of the Constitutional Convention, and debates of the Amendments as evidence. After January 1, 2001, any law, office, or agency that has not been given a clean bill of Constitutional health will have no standing. The American people will no longer recognize or be obligated to obey entities of government that have not been reviewed.

Finally, the Petition restates the penalties and processes already within the U.S. Constitution for justices, officers, and elected officials who fail in their Oath to "preserve, protect and defend" that document. This is all accomplished through direct reference to existing Constitutional provisions.

It is true that powerful constituencies support the status quo. However, the return to the original standard must begin to happen or cynicism and social deterioration will increase. Failing to implement the Petition entails disastrous consequences for our form of government and society. We are at war culturally in this country because of the constant meddling and social engineering of our legislative bodies and the bureaucrats. Our declining standards of living and morals are directly attributable to the intense regulation on virtually every facet of our lives and the level of taxation necessary to pay for the "services" and entitlements. Only with the reduction of regulation and its attendant bureaucracy will our long-term financial and social stability return.

Thus, the quote offered at the beginning. The only question is, will we take responsibility?

Brady-Beating Sheriff to Appear

Citizens for the Constitution is presenting an appearance by Sheriff Richard Mack of Graham County, Arizona. Sheriff Mack, an ardent Constitutionalist, challenged the Brady Bill in Federal District Court and won a ruling that the bill is unconstitutional in its entirety. The feds have chosen not to appeal.

Sheriff Mack will speak at George Washington High School, 655 S. Monaco, on Saturday, January 14, at 1:00 p.m. Admission is $5 in advance, $7 at the door.

Mack has written a book, which contains all the details of the case and the court's ruling. It will be available at the meeting. In addition, various pro-liberty groups (including the LP) will have tables, distributing information and selling merchandise.

For more information or to get advance tickets, call Citizens for the Constitution at (303) 344-9426 or write them at PO Box 24700, Denver, CO 80224.

Kudos to...

- Michelle Bethke, Larry Hoffenberg, and David Aitken, who all had letters to the editor printed recently.
- David Bruno and David Segal, who've collaborated on several DCTV (Denver Community Television) shows, and are now moving the act into the broadcast world on KBDI-12.

LP Growing in Colorado

In 1994, Colorado's national LP memberships increased by over 10%, a modest gain. State memberships, meanwhile, grew by more than 80%, which is the kind of growth we need to achieve regularly in both membership categories and in voter registration numbers.

The chart below shows the numbers over the past 12 months.

LPC Office Wish List

Would you like to help the LP, but don't have much time or money? Perhaps you have something we could use! Call us and find out. Here are a few suggestions:

- Old software (must run on XT)
- Floppy disks (360k, DSDD)
- Printer (preferably inkjet or laser, but dot matrix will do just fine)
- Fax machine and/or fax/modem

Note: The LPC has for years disputed the county's claim that we are a business and must pay personal property tax on the contents of the office. They continue to bill us, and may some day seize our assets. We prefer that any equipment be loaned to the party, not donated. Thanks!
