I agree. And I appreciate you making sure to emphasize that there weren't any "shenanigans" or "corruption" in the process. We need to move past this disunity and suspicion if we can.

Thank you very much. I hope it laid to rest any idea that Whitney was not the clear consensus candidate - I think the walkthrough helped a lot of people understand what happened.

Caryn Ann,

While I have occasionally had gripes about your approach on your videos, and question the wisdom of a party officer criticizing colleagues in the manner that you sometimes do, I'll give you some credit. I happened to be online earlier when your video on the RCV demo went live. The demo was really good and it was a good (and timely) educational piece on that voting method. I watched part of it at the time, and just finished after coming in from the garden. Well done.

I have a favour to ask LP friends. I am being passive aggressively attacked once again by LNC members. I have responded coolly and professionally. It is concerning this email discussion. I ask that you please politely, and with your real name and email, write the LNC and ask them to stop trying to do the Secretary's job and treat her work with respect.
