Chairman's Report for the Libertarian Party of Colorado

June 2024

Board and Committee Activities:

This month, the board worked diligently through our working committees and project management boards. We held three committee meetings, focusing on strategic planning, outreach initiatives, and policy development.

National Convention:

We attended the national convention in Washington, DC. During the convention, we networked with Libertarian leaders from across the country, participated in workshops, and contributed to policy discussions that will shape our party's future. Our presence was significant in establishing key relationships and enhancing our national profile.

Fundraising and Ambassador Program:

We successfully onboarded our new fundraising director, who has already started implementing innovative strategies to boost our fundraising efforts. A key focus has been on our Ambassador program, designed to engage and empower our top donors and activists to further our fundraising goals.

Public Debates and Media Engagement:

I had the opportunity to debate Republicans and Democrats at the Women of Weld-sponsored debate. The event was both televised and live-streamed, and I am pleased to report that I dominated the discussion, clearly presenting our Libertarian values and solutions.

LIBERTARIAN PARTY OF COLORADO

Campaign Activities:

With ballots going out for Colorado's CD4 special election, where I am a candidate, our campaign has gained significant traction. Numerous articles have been written across Colorado about my congressional run, highlighting our message and attracting new supporters.

Liberty Pledges:

We had two Liberty pledges signed and returned this month, with Libertarian candidates making important deals that will strengthen our influence and impact.

Media Interviews and Articles:

I was interviewed by Dave Vs. Goliath, discussing the national convention and my run for LNC Vice Chair. Additionally, my congressional run and campaign activities were covered in several prominent publications, including:

- The Denver Post
- Colorado Public Radio News
- Fort Collins Coloradan
- Colorado Newslite

These articles have significantly increased our visibility and brought attention to our campaign and the broader Libertarian movement in Colorado.

Looking Ahead:

As we head into a ramped-up political season, our focus will be on maximizing our outreach efforts, securing more media coverage, and driving voter engagement. We are entering an exciting period with numerous opportunities to advance our Libertarian principles and elect candidates who truly represent our values.
