Historical,

As a proud member of the Libertarian Party in , you've witnessed firsthand the importance of securing ballot access and expanding the party's influence within your state.

However, the fight for liberty extends far beyond your state's borders, and there are compelling reasons why supporting ballot access efforts in other states benefits us all, including you and your state party.

Here's why your support matters beyond state lines:

- Community Building: By supporting ballot access efforts in other states, we demonstrate a sense of community within the larger Libertarian movement.
- Long-Term Growth: As more states gain ballot access, our party's visibility and influence increase, creating a more favorable environment for Libertarian candidates and policies across the country. This effect can come back to your state and lead to internal growth as well. Rising Tides raise all ships!
- Reciprocal Support: When we help fellow Libertarians secure access to the ballot, we can count on their support and assistance when our state faces challenges or opportunities in the future.
- National Representation: A strong presence of Libertarian candidates on the ballot nationwide allows us to participate in debates, gain media coverage, and shape public discourse on important issues, ultimately benefiting Libertarians in all states, including yours.

- Policy Innovation: By supporting ballot access in other states, we contribute to the diversity of ideas and approaches within the Libertarian Party, fostering innovation and progress in policy development.
- Electoral Strategy: Achieving ballot access in multiple states is essential for our party's electoral strategy and viability. It opens up new opportunities for strategic campaigning, coalition-building, and electoral alliances, ultimately strengthening our electoral prospects and advancing our agenda.

In conclusion, supporting ballot access efforts in other states is not just an act of generosity—it's an investment in the future of liberty and the success of the Libertarian Party nationwide. Your support helps to build a stronger, more vibrant Libertarian movement that benefits us all, both now and in the years to come.
