"THE LAST PETITION DRIVE GETS UNDERWAY" 50,000 VOTES TO ACHIEVE PERMANENT PARTY LINE IN NEW YORK GOAL OF TUCCILLE CAMPAIGN

Jerome Tuccille's decision to run for Governor this fall has caused a new wave of excitement through the FLP. It makes possible the achievement of a goal long sought after by libertarians throughout New York and the nation as well: to become a permanent political party in New York State. This means a line on the ballot on the same level with Republicans, Democrats, Liberals and Conservatives, as well as the end to future petition drives to get candidates on the ballot for statewide office. And it means that other libertarian candidates will only have to get a very small number of signatures from enrolled libertarians. It means a new, important credibility with the public and with the press - no longer will we be associated with Socialist, Labor, Communist and other left wing parties.

According to New York State election laws, a political party must poll at least 50,000 votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor before it can be considered a "permanent political party." The Tuccille for Governor Committee thinks this will be done. (50,000 votes represents less than 1% of the total votes.) But the effort will be the greatest challenge the FLP has ever faced, for it means running a massive statewide campaign. The first thrust is an ambitious, professionally managed fund raising drive targeted at Libertarians throughout the U.S. The second is the function of an advertising/public relations team, consisting of a large number of professionals in this field who are working on what promises to be the most extensive media campaign in the FLP's history.

But the real excitement is that fact that Jerome Tuccille has agreed to spearhead this drive by running for Governor. Few libertarians need to be introduced to Tuccille, author of numerous books, including It Usually Begins with Ayn Rand. He is well-known to the press, having had articles published by the New York Times and other newspapers and magazines. Already, he has received media exposure about his candidacy on several radio stations, the Gannett News Chain and several newspapers. Although the specific strategy is still being formulated, Tuccille's campaign will probably be directed at the large mass of middle-class New Yorkers who are being squeezed by rising property, income and sales taxes, while the state continues to spend more and more money on useless projects and welfare schemes. As one woman, buying groceries at a suburban shopping center, said to Tuccille recently, "Nobody gives a damn about us."

Although the election is still a few months away, the real work is beginning now. Contributions of time and labor are needed now, according to the Tuccille Committee, to prepare for the months ahead. Massive fund raising mailings are in the works, the petition drive is not far off and dozens of other tasks need to be done. Money will be needed later, but pledges made now are still important to facilitate planning. Leland Schubert, Tuccille's campaign manager, urges you to contact the FLP office to contribute whatever you can, for this will undoubtedly be the most libertarian campaign in the history of the party.

GREAVES

(Editor's Note: Dr. Murray Rothbard has kindly given the newsletter the text of the speech he made at the State Convention nominating Percy Greaves for the U.S. Senate.)

I have known Percy Greaves for 25 years: known him as a distinguished free-market economist, and follower and close friend of my revered mentor, Ludwig von Mises. Percy has written and lectured widely in economics, has published a book on Understanding the Dollar Crisis and a forthcoming Glossary to Mises' Human Action and has been Professor of Economics at the University of Plano, Texas.

Before his career as economist, educator and follower of Ludwig von Mises, however, Percy had another distinguished career in conservative Republican politics. Percy was financial editor of the U.S. News in the mid-1930's and during the years of WW II he was Associate Research Director of the Republican National Committee. Percy likes to consider that his war service was blocking numerous totalitarian measures introduced by the Roosevelt Administration. For example, Percy was able to mobilize the Congress to block Roosevelt's proposed maximum limit of $25,000 on all annual salaries. After WW II, Percy was clerk of the House Labor Committee and was Chief of the Minority Staff of the Joint Congressional Committee Investigating Pearl Harbor. As such, Percy became the world's foremost authority on Pearl Harbor and on Roosevelt's maneuvering of the U.S. into the Asian war. (See, for example, his article in Perpetual War for Perpetual Peace, Harry Barnes, editor, Caxton Printers.)

When I first met Percy it was shortly after the election of 1950, when he almost became Senator from Maryland. Percy had almost entered the Republican primary in Maryland that year, but abandoned the idea because Senator Tydings seemed unbeatable; as luck would have it, Tydings lost and an unknown, John Marshall Butler, became Senator. Because of that, and also because Percy looks more like a Senator than anyone I know, we all called Percy "the Senator" in those years. May the Free Libertarian Party fulfill that label! (Also, remember that Sen. Javits, too, has been called "unbeatable"!)

This is a year when we are on the threshold of a grave economic crisis: of a runaway inflation that has been accelerating at a frightening rate, of shortages and dislocations brought about by government price controls and allocations that have already been embodied in the beef shortage and then the energy shortage. Accelerating inflation and high taxes are crippling the average American. In this era, we are fortunate indeed to have Percy Greaves as our Senatorial candidate. He can hammer home on the economic issues; he is knowledgeable, articulate and has long experience as a public speaker.

Percy is also a man of principle and a believer in civil liberties. As a man of principle, he resigned as a member of the Executive Committee of the Conservative Party of Westchester County when the Conservative Party endorsed Richard Nixon in 1968. As both, he refused the offer of a Senatorial nomination from the Courage Party this year because he refuses to run for office for any party which has an outlaw-abortion plank in its platform. Percy's view is that the government has no business legislating or enforcing in the areas of abortion or personal liberty.

It is true that I do not agree with Percy on all questions; but if I adopted that as my criterion, then all my acquaintances would fit in a telephone booth. If Ludwig von Mises was a libertarian, then so is Percy Greaves. It is true that Percy does believe in a minimal government; but he believes in such a government strictly confined to protection, defense and the administration of justice. The important point is that the level of taxes in a Greaves' proposed government would be spectacularly lower than it is today. Greaves is also flatly opposed to the progressive income tax, as a burden not only on the rich but on all of society. He is against all special privileges to any group, including businesses and labor unions. On foreign policy, Greaves believes in no government intervention in foreign wars and the ending of all governmental foreign aid. Consistently, he opposed the American war in Vietnam as he opposed the war against Japan.

Finally, it is important for the FLP to appeal to all groups in the population. So far, our membership and our candidates have been almost exclusively under 40, if not under 30. It is about time that we extend our appeal to those mass of Americans over 40, to those older and more conservative Americans who may have found it difficult to relate to the youth emphasis. The Tuccille-Greaves ticket is a superb blend of libertarian emphasis and life-style: Tuccille, young and hip; Greaves, older and Senatorial. Tuccille, interested in civil liberties, decentralization and futurology; Greaves, emphasizing free-market economics. Both united in libertarian principles and goals. I am happy to place the name of Percy L. Greaves, Jr. in nomination for the Senate of the United States.

COHEN

Sandy Cohen, FLP candidate in the 25th C.D., and Guy Riggs, FLP candidate from the 99th A.D., appeared with about a dozen supporters at a protest at the Main Mall, City of Poughkeepsie, on Saturday, April 13th, as part of the National Tax Protest activities over that weekend. The Poughkeepsie Journal gave a good write-up on the protest - with a big picture of Sandy and Guy handing out literature, while someone in the background carried a sign reading, "Big Brother is a crook. 1776 or 1984?"

On Saturday, April 20th, Dr. John Hospers was the guest of honor at a fundraising party held for Sandy Cohen in Highland, N.Y. Dr. Hospers was the 1972 LP candidate for President - who came in third in electoral votes. He is the 1974 LP candidate for Governor of California.

Over one hundred supporters of Sandy heard Dr. Hospers speak about the need for people like Sandy, whose only political motive is the extension of human freedom. Dr. Hospers pointed out that Sandy is one of the few candidates in the country who has promised to fight to: reduce all taxes, end inflation and repeal all victimless crime laws.

On Saturday, May 5th, Sandy will speak at a public rally at the Hudson Plaza, South Road, Poughkeepsie. He explained that, "The purpose of the rally is to expose the truth about inflation - the latest government created crisis. People need to know how and why the government has pushed this country to the brink of economic disaster. They need to know that there is an alternative.

On May 7th, Sandy will be guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the Yorktown Exchange Club. On the same day, he will be a guest on Talkback on WEOK radio. On Wednesday, May 8th, he will address the student body of Dutchess Community College. And on Tuesday, May 14th, he will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Yorktown Lions Club.

WALKER

The Walker for the Assembly campaign is getting publicity for the Free Libertarian Party, some good, some bad.

Long Island Press, Sunday, April 7th. "Libertarian Party finds a home on Long Island," by Karl Grossman, was a great article, gave the party's five principles, described our goals, placed us in the political spectrum. Excellent coverage, even included a bio on Walker.

Newsday, Tuesday, April 9th. Brief news item, "Free Libertarian Party Two LI Candidates," emphasized "two women" were running for office, downplayed Mary Jo Wanzer's and Walker's educational background, etc. Portant of things to come.

Newsday, Sunday, April 14th. "Long Island's Third Party Fountainhead" by Robert Fresco was a bad article. It totally avoided any real coverage of the party and instead gave a hodgepodge misrepresentation that was designed to drop the FLP, Walker and Wanzer into the nearest nut bin. So misleading was the article that many people read it and concluded Walker's chief campaign concern was giving away free heroin! Needless to say letters to the editor followed; Walker sent copies of her letter to all other newspapers in the Assembly District and to key journalists who are concerned with accuracy in the media. Good feedback from other reporters.

Suffolk Life, week of April 14th. Reprinted the FLP news release. Walker used to work for this paper.

Suffolk Life, week of April 21st. "There's a new hat in the political ring" by Karen Gatto presented the party, its principles and its goals. Good emphasis on Walker's opposition to condemnation laws, the present tax system, public financing of campaigns and government force.

Additional publicity: Committee for Repeal of Condemnation Laws received TV coverage when it addressed the Suffolk County Legislature on reconsidering the widening of Union Boulevard, Islip Town, Tuesday, April 9th.

Yours for Freedom of the Press,
Virginia Shields Walker.

STATE COMMITTEE

The first meeting of the State Committee since the election of the new officers and committee-persons-at-large (excluding the meeting on March 31 which did nothing but set the date for this one), passed several important motions. Maria Martins was appointed temporary chairperson of Queens county, to work on the formation of a county organization there. After considerable discussion of ways to reduce the cost of producing and distributing the newsletter, it was decided that the number of free issues sent to prospective new members be reduced from four to two, and that the new graphics committee headed by Carolyn Keelen be requested to design and present to the State Committee a complete system of mailings to prospects, with the ultimate purpose of discontinuing entirely the policy of sending them free newsletters. Carolyn announced that the other members of her graphics committee, which intends to provide continuing design services for party activities (including the newsletter) are Chris Graf, Holly Lapiroff, Virginia Macintosh, Ellen Abramowitz and Linda Osborn.

Bill Lawry's desire to produce T-shirts with the FLP logo printed on them caused a whole slew of amendments, amendments to amendments and a general confusion. What finally emerged was the following motion, which passed by five to zero while four members continued to cling to the security of abstentions: Bill Lawry, and such business associates as he may designate, are authorized to produce for sale T-shirts displaying the FLP logo, on the conditions that a flat fee of 25¢ per T-shirt be paid to the FLP treasury and that nothing other than the FLP logo and party name may appear on them.

Most of the other business accomplished was of a more routine, administrative nature. The Chairperson was authorized to allocate up to $300 for the purchase of stationary and forms, specifically including at least

WANZER

The Wanzer for Assemblywoman Committee will be holding a fundraiser on Saturday, May 5th at the Forest City Community Clubhouse in Wantaugh, N.Y. The guest speaker at the fundraiser will be CBS News-Spectrum-Commentator Jeffrey St. John.

KALCHEIM

On April 27th, in the Williams Club, Murray Rothbard, Percy Greaves and Jerome Tuccille held forth in a fund raising event for Congressional candidate Ken Kalcheim. Dr. Rothbard talked about the current economic crisis and, as he put it, this is a good subject because economic crises are coming so thick and fast these days that one never has to repeat one's self.

The gathering also heard a tape of William Drexler, lawyer and tax rebel, tell some of the legal means he used to beat the IRS. After hearing a sample the tapes were auctioned off with Charles Curley as the auctioneer.

In total, donations were received from 15 states; and the Kalcheim for Congress Committee wishes to thank all those who contributed.

EDITOR'S NOTE: All candidates are strongly urged to send in news on the latest developments in their campaigns.

ten thousand sheets of color on white stationary. The Chairperson and the Treasurer were individually authorized to sign checks on the FLP treasury in amounts up to $150. And the Secretary was instructed to post the present number of members in the FLP on the bulletin board in the party office and then periodically to post a current, updated figure alongside it so that we can keep a vigilant eye on our growth throughout the year.

Inaction can speak as loudly as action; and a few issues were dealt with by being postponed or voted down in the process of amending motions. For example, a proposal to raise the subscription price for the newsletter was voted down. The possibility of advertising in newspapers for new members was discussed, but no action was taken.

The Treasurer's Report revealed that presently available funds for the next three months or so come to about $1,200, with about $350 available above and beyond office expenses and other previous commitments. Lee Schubert summarized the present status of the By-Laws and specifically reported that he intends to propose several amendments to the county organization section. There were no applications for county organization charters.

The next State Committee meeting was scheduled for immediately after the reconvened Annual State Convention on April 28, but only for the purpose of setting the time and place for the following meeting.

IT WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY, MAY 18th AT ONE PM IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Directions for getting there are as follows: go north on Route 9, turn right at the IBM plant and go on to Spakenkill Road, drive down it till Hagen Drive (just before the High School); then go five blocks on Hagen and turn right at Saddle Rock Road. Guy Riggs' house is at the top of the hill at 32 Saddle Rock Drive. The meeting will be held in his basement. Everyone says it is a very large basement.

WHAT HAPPENED

STATE CONVENTION

At the final session of the Annual State Convention on April 28th, the FLP endorsed Jack Martin for the Court of Appeals, Bob Cassella for State Senate from the 24th S.D. and Marji Caines for State Assembly from the 62nd A.D. The Convention also delegated to the State Committee authority to make endorsements for the Court of Appeals by a vote of 2/3's of the full State Committee.

The Convention also voted to delegate to the StateCom authority to make endorsements in other races by a 2/3's vote of the full Committee until August 2nd for offices to be filled at the 1974 General Election. (Under a By-Laws amendment adopted earlier, this can only be exercised in areas where no County Organization exists.)

A write-up on the By-Laws amendments and Resolutions adopted will appear in the June newsletter.

Gubernatorial candidate Tuccille and Senatorial candidate Greaves addressed the Convention. A write-up on their remarks will also appear in next months newsletter.

LETTERS

I am requesting that this be printed in your monthly newsletter. I deeply appreciate the...copies of it that have reached my mailbox. At this time I am unable to take more of an active role in popularizing this much needed movement, let alone joining the Party. However, having given up on the GOP, I must confess that the Libertarian Party is the last chance to say liberty in America is still something that people are concerned with.

Best luck in '76
Robert Simon
Rome, N.Y.

I am enclosing a $10 check to help keep the Party functions rolling and cover membership fees, ect. As a member I feel I would like to make a few suggestions.

First of all, let us concentrate less on Party organization, technical By-Laws and other rather limited arguments that often clutter up the newsletter and my mailbox.

This suggestion is made only with practicality in mind, at this point in Libertarianism we need more actual campaign work and less internal dissention.

Secondly, let's get the campaign for Governor going as soon as possible; we'll need all the head start we can get.

Thirdly, I suggest that during this campaign we publicize to the minorities of New York who could best benefit by our policies. Among these are Gay Activist Alliance, Committee for Legalization of Marijuana, American Civil Liberties Union, Alliance of Small Businessmen, etc. And what about that downtrodden group 'The Subway Riders'? (I didn't see one Fran Youngstein poster in the subway last year.)

Finally, an explanation of our policies is necessary or we will frighten off many voters. In the area of drug legalization for instance, what is the policy regarding minimum age? How will it benefit crime prevention, ect.? And we need some policy on such programs as Welfare and Housing.

Let's get the Ball of Freedom rolling,
Willard Wagner
New York, N.Y.

First off, I would like to make it clear that I do not endorse either the October 1973 "Yom Kippur" war, or the existence of the state of Israel. I do not know what Mr. Rothbard's opinion is as to my stand on these, but nevertheless, I do not.

However, his objection is based, so I understand, on ideological grounds; namely, that it is wrong for governments to exist. Nevertheless, no privately-owned and run national defense agencies of the sort envisioned by most, if not all, anarcho-capitalists exist yet. Therefore, the only institutions that one can turn to when in need of defence on a large scale are (ugh!) governments. So, at present, one must depend on them for defense, even though one would much prefer to use a totally voluntary source of it.

I realize that the Israeli government practices robbery and slavery. But should not we recognize their moral acts, in the hope of inciting them towards morality?

Sincerely yours,
Joseph T. Major
Louisville, Ky.

Gentlepersons:

The recent correspondence here on the United Jewish Appeal is based upon a false premise.

The UJA raises funds for programs overseas, mostly in Israel, and in a miniscule degree in the U.S., that are administered by private agencies such as the Joint Distribution Committee. Cooperation of course exists, but should any of these funds be handed over to the Government of Israel, or even used privately for military or political purposes, the givers would be liable to lose their tax deduction, and the UJA is not about to invite that occurrence.

You can't even argue that a dollar of UJA aid to the elderly must free an Israeli dollar for Government arms purchase. The cause has it that Jewish immigration to Israel, with housing, job training, health care and other related activities - the focus of a goodly part of UJA's work - is a responsibility of the world Jewish community, not of any government, or even of Israel's people in particular.

It follows that UJA is perhaps the largest libertarian enterprise in the world (unless you count Arab oil pricing).

Sincerely,
Leonard Rubin
New York, N.Y.

It was my intention in joining with the other members of the Constitutionalist Coalition to put an end to factionalism in the Party. But the defeat of my decentralist by-laws amendments left all power in the hands of the State Committee and forced me to run for the State Committee in order that I might have some means to prevent the type of abuses which happened last year.

As a result of this and because of the dissolution of the Radical Caucus I now find that we have become a faction (which most people would categorize as myself, Charlie Blood, Bill Lawry and perhaps Ellen Davis on the one side and Fran Youngstein, Lee Schubert Dolores Grande and Mike Nichols on the other, with Andrea Millen and Ray Strong playing a moderating role).

This was not our intention. I think that some people in the Party expect me to play a Sam Konkin type of role. I do not intend any such thing. I see no one on the present State Committee with whom I cannot work. I expect that there will be disagreements among us, and I am capable of fighting hard for my point of view. But I sincerely hope that the disagreements will not be along the same lines that formed last year and that people will take positions as individuals rather than as members of what they feel to be "our side."

I also realize that I am no exception to the temptations of power. Everyone wants to put into effect that which he believes to be right and rational. The trouble is that those who have power can do this at the expense of what someone else believes to be right and rational. That is why even the best of leaders are no good when that have too much power.

Now that I have too much power I hope that members of the Party will keep me under close scrutiny and be quick to let me know when I am acting improperly.

The Constitutionalist Coalition will continue to proselytize for limited government. We hope that, now that we are organized, our efforts will be met with the same open mindedness and good humor with which we greeted the earlier anarchist proselytizing. And we hope that some of those who strayed from the limited government cause a while back will return to the fold.

Howard S. Katz

In this letter, I will attempt to give a fuller explanation of my reasons for abstaining on the statewide nominations than I could at the behind schedule convention.

First of all, my abstentions were not directed at the particular candidates, but derived from certain philosophical premises. The type of FLP I would like would be an aggregation of local libertarian movements. I feel a Virginia Walker, who has roots in the community, is a far better spokesperson for libertarianism in Suffolk than a Fran Youngstein or even a Zachary Rousso; Guy Riggs, a better spokesperson in Poughkeepsie; a Mary-Jo Wanzer, a better spokesperson in Nassau; etc.

A further advantage of local, decentralized libertarianism is that it allows for a maximum diversity; in contradistinction to a central FLP bureaucracy imposing a collective conformity on its minorities.

The FLP, according to my vision, would be merely a clearinghouse for its members to learn of new ideas and techniques developed at the local, decentralized level.

However, now that the statewide nominations are a fait accompli, I would hope that these central campaigns will not be permitted to 1) undercut or hamper local candidates or 2) be used as a vehicle for one individual or faction to gain power within the FLP.

In so far as these statewide campaigns are hard-hitting, well thought out appeals to potential libertarians of all stripes, they will receive a lot of my time and effort this year.

THE UNTOLD HISTORY

How the British East India Company's "pre-Fabian" Philosophical Radicals set up Capitalism and its antithesis Communism

by William Robert Plumme

320 pages $4.

An Activist/scholar, the author of this book has the unique ability to analyze the past with reference to the present and to project the future. Thus in 1945 he was chiefly responsible for blocking a drive to give a bureau of government absolute power over the allocation of labor and materials in the post war United States. In 1965 he gave a signal speech which killed the drive for a registration of private owned arms by the Federal Government.

In THE UNTOLD HISTORY the author provides the reader with a comprehensive picture of what has been and is taking place—forming a matrix to which he can add out of his own studies and experiences.

It is a must both for analysts studying the course of events and for activists who must contend with the master-plans of the forces they are trying to combat.

LIBERTARIAN CLEARING HOUSE

The major purpose of the clearing house will be to allow libertarians to deal with other libertarians both economically and socially and, as a by-product, to benefit the FLP.

Wouldn't you prefer a libertarian lawyer, doctor, etc.? A fellow libertarian might be a great choice if you are in a position to hire or influence the hiring of a person.

I am confining the concept to two areas initially: (A) What is your profession? (Use your major if you are a student); (B) Hobbies and interests (i.e., coin collecting, chess, electronics, cars, etc.). You will be entered on a card file under your areas.

It will cost each person $1 (fiat money accepted) to be listed and to use the service for the first year.

The service will function 24 hours - 365 days a year through the use of an answering machine, which shall be purchased with the initial dollars. I will personally respond to each phoned inquiry.

If a user of the service receives a benefit above what he or she expects in the ordinary marketplace, I would ask that this person make a general contribution to the FLP. This is not mandatory; and the amount is up to your judgement. How much would it be worth to you if you were looking for a job and found one through the clearing house? How much would it be worth to you if you were looking for an employee and found one through the service? A doctor, mechanic, lawyer, carpenter?

Send in your dollar to the FLP Clearing House to start the ball rolling. You will be notified by me when we go live.

William W. Roth
